DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
  - I. Claims 16-22, drawn to a test system, classified in class 324, subclass 763.
  - II. Claims 1-6, drawn to integrated circuit, classified in class 257, subclass 48.
  - III. Claims 7-15, drawn to integrated circuit, classified in class 257, subclass 48.
  - IV. Claims 23-28, drawn to method for testing an integrated circuit, classified in class 324, subclass 763.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions II and I are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because combination does not require all the details of the subcombination such as an external test device for an activation signal and an electrical signal. The subcombination has separate utility such as by itself for its intended purpose or in a different combination.

3. Inventions III and I are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because combination does not require all the details of the subcombination such as an external test device for an activation signal and an electrical signal. The subcombination has separate utility such as by itself for its intended purpose or in a different combination.

4. Inventions II and III are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because combination does not require all the details of the subcombination such as the switching signal. The subcombination has separate utility such as by itself for its intended purpose or in a different combination.

5. Inventions I-III and IV are related as products and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the obvious method of operating the apparatus as claims 1, 7 and 16 is different from the method of claim 23.

6. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

7. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
